Who is CommVault?

There was a time when asking the question “Who is CommVault?” would have put you in good company with the majority of the data management world. People asking that question these days, however, find themselves part of a rapidly dwindling minority.

Officially, CommVault is a publicly traded data and information management software company headquartered in Oceanport, New Jersey. We first made our mark with the industry’s leading backup software product. But, from the beginning—over a decade ago—our founders were passionately committed to going beyond backup, giving companies a better way to organize, protect and access business information.

Many of our 13,500+ customers started talking with us in search of a better alternative to their existing backup systems. But, ultimately, they were won over by CommVault’s unique philosophy and ability to deliver complete solutions with infinite scalability and unprecedented control over data and costs.

In 2011, CommVault was positioned in the “Leaders” quadrant in Gartner’s Magic Quadrant for Enterprise Disk-Based Backup and Recovery. And leading technology companies worldwide have formed strategic partnerships with us, including Dell, HDS, HP, Microsoft, NetApp, VMware, Novell, Oracle, Sun Microsystems, and Bull.

A wealth of accolades, and revenue growth greater than 3 times the software industry average further reflect the industry’s burgeoning enthusiasm for CommVault’s revolutionary approach to data management.

CommVault is committed to developing innovative solutions with infinite possibilities. Our people and Simpna® software help enterprises manage data growth, cut costs and reduce risk by simplifying data management functions through a single platform and architecture.

CommVault's Solving Forward® Philosophy

So, what exactly is this philosophy that sets CommVault so far apart from the data management herd?

In a nutshell, CommVault's Solving Forward® philosophy means developing truly innovative solutions that not only solve the data-management-related challenges of today, but also build in solutions for the challenges of tomorrow.

The familiar quote about those not learning from the past being condemned to repeat it is particularly applicable to the data management industry. Which is why all of the talented, independently-minded individuals at CommVault are 100 percent focused on redefining what data management software, services and support should be.

We are determined to help organizations protect, manage, find and use their data and information quickly, simply, and affordably—today, tomorrow and beyond.

From Solving Forward® philosophy to game-changing software

Simpana® software redefines “integrated” data management

Nowhere is CommVault's Solving Forward philosophy better epitomized than in our flagship Simpana® software. Simpana software puts CommVault's groundbreaking holistic, or singular, approach to data management into action. It transforms the way companies organize, protect, and access business information, and delivers unparalleled economic value.

Simpana software is one software product with one platform designed to eliminate the need for a myriad of disparate, point-level products, with separate interfaces, hardware infrastructures, training and support requirements, and costs. It is inherently flexible, efficient, scalable and adaptable. And it naturally results in significant cost reductions.

Eschewing the inefficient siloed approach to data management, Simpana software employs licensable modules for Backup & Recovery, Archive, Replication, Resource Management and Search—all built from the ground up on a single unifying code base and common platform.

All modules are built in to the Simpana common platform, simply waiting to be turned on if and when you need them. This Solving Forward solution gives enterprise users a truly integrated data management system in place from the beginning.

Because the Simpana common platform was designed to be infinitely scalable, newly developed modules will “talk” effortlessly to all other Simpana modules for integrated data management far into the future.
